Colonel Charles A. Woodruff, counsel for the defense, said he desired to simplify the proceedings. He was willing, he said, to admit that General Smith gave instructions to Major Waller to kill and burn and make Samar a howling wilderness, that he want-ed everybody killed capable of bearing arms and that he did specify all over 10 years of age, as the Samar boys of that age were equally as dangerous as their elders. TO SELL DIRECT TO CONSUMER Mayfield Woolen Mills Establishes Retail Department.

The Mayfield Woolen Mills Clothing Com-The Mayfield Woolen Mills Clothing Company has inaugurated a retail department at Nos. 1120-22 Olive street. The company manufactures the goods they will sell and carry the wool through all the processes from the time it leaves the back of the sheep until it is woven into the finished garment.

As this is their first venture in the retail business the Mayfield Company will introduce themselves to the public with a "drive sale." It is promised that their entire stock of men's garments of every shape and description will be sold at prices far below the normal.

Haste was necessary as the sale is to begin this morning. was necessary no the sale is to begin this morning.

The capital of the Mayfield Company is 11,256,660.00. Their advertising trademarks—a picture of a woolly sheep with the words "Mayfield Woolen Mills" stamped upon it—is familiar to all. The company has large mills both in Louisville and Mayfield. Ky. Their wholesale headquarters and warehouse is on Washington avenue, but the sale is not held there because there is not sufficient room.

The company claims that it is the largest in the world which manufactures clothing from raw wool. In different factories the complicated processes, through which the natural product must pass, are carried out. The wool is scoured at one place, dyed in another, spun in another, woven into cloth in another, spun in another, woven into garments, Thus the clothing which will be sold at retail comes direct from the manufacturer and local manufacts and retailers' profits are ignored altogether and that the company demands only profit on the cost of manufacture.

The goods to be sold includes all manner of spring garments for boys, youths and men. The cuts are various and the clothes of many qualities. The stylish dresser will find a "nobby" coat and the laborer an enduring pair of trousers. The prices go as low as 45 cents on boys' suits and $1.28 for men's suits.

At the prices which have been put upon the goods on sale the company believes that it cannot make credit charges, and cannot deliver goods, except on payment of actual cost of delivery. The management announces that these costs have been considered in placing the prices so low, and that the persons who buy will be saving just that much. The company claims that it is the largest

Two new lines of railroad building in the territory, the Fort Smith and Western and the Ozark and Cherokee Central, cross at Okeema and there the new town was laid out. S. M. Rutherford of this city and Colonel Dexter, of Shawnee, Ok., were the promoters. The lots were put up at auction and before night $30,000 worth of lots were sold for cash and there were 500 people in the town. Two banks were organized on the spot and before night came they were receiving deposits and selling drafts. The safes were set out on the ground and a board put up in front of them for a counter, When night came the roof was on one of the bank buildings.

A rival townsite company attempted to get control of the sale and when defeated, attempted the organization of another town a half mile away, but failed. The leaders of the two townsites companies met in the streets, and a riot was narrowly averted.
